

Rosey Rupp

Rosey Rupp has dedicated herself to helping others learn about the health care revenue cycle by gaining professional experience as well as earning health care administration degrees and related certifications. Rosey has earned many certifications in the field of health care including becoming a Certified Professional Biller (CPB), Certified Professional Coder (CPC) with certifications in both ICD-9 and ICD-10, and she is a Certified Physician Practice Manager (CPPM). She is a Presidential member of the National Society of Leadership and Success (NSLS) working on the Executive Leadership Certification and is recognized as a Subject Matter Expert in the health care revenue cycle.

She received her education from the University of Phoenix with a Master's and Bachelor's degree in Health Care Administration and is currently working toward a doctoral degree in the same field.

Rosey is currently working for Inovalon as the Supervisor of the Revenue Cycle Management Training team. She not only educates hundreds of individuals throughout the country on how to best reduce their health care revenue cycle but also leads the revenue cycle team. She oversees internal employees' trainings, assists with client onboarding training, and external client trainings.
